

Finding Clean Cities and Alternative Fuel Information on the Internet

Clean Cities University 102

There are many good Web sites available for finding alternative fuel vehicle (AFV) information on the Internet. Your searches will, no doubt, pull up thousands of possibilities. But Clean Cities University 102 simplifies your search!

The U.S. Department of Energy has numerous Web sites that are geared toward individual needs. Whether you're searching for available AFVs, needing fleet or regulatory information, wanting to take part in the Clean Cities Program, or just looking to learn more about alternative fuels—there's a Web site for you!
