

Project Updates

January 30, 2012 Steering Committee Meeting Information

We look forward to updating you on our overall progress at the in-person Uniform Methods Project Steering Committee meeting that will take place Monday, January 30, at the Commonwealth Edison Headquarters in downtown Chicago. We are glad that most of you will be able to attend this meeting, as we have some important decisions for the steering committee to make. However, if you have not already confirmed your attendance, please do so by sending an email to chuck.kurnik@nrel.gov.

All documents/resources that you will need for this meeting are now available on the NREL Website and are summarized below. Please review this information before the meeting to ensure an effective and efficient discussion. Additionally, here is some general travel/meeting guidance:

Please be sure to read the information regarding building security on the travel guidance page.

Uniform Methods Report Outline Available

The Cadmus Group has completed a summary outline of the final report  for review at the meeting.

Residential Lighting, Refrigerator Recycling, and Commercial Unitary HVAC Protocols Ready for Review

Three draft protocols have been completed and are ready for review by the steering committee—residential lighting, refrigerator recycling, and commercial unitary HVAC.

Please review each protocol and use the online comment tool  to complete your review.

Please submit a separate file for each protocol, either before or after the in-person steering committee meeting. Please note that we will discuss these draft protocols in Chicago, so you may want to wait and submit your review comments after this meeting. If you have any questions, please contact Chuck Kurnik via email at: chuck.kurnik@nrel.gov.
